

Photos, l.r.: ©GIZ/Harald Franzen; ©GIZ/Marketa Zelenka

Side Event at COP23

Progress towards achieving the adaptation goals – Promising ways to tackle climate risks

When and where

Monday, 6 November 2017

16:00 – 17:00h

German Pavilion | Bonn Zone

Organizers

GIZ (Climate Policy Support Programme)

climate@giz.de

Speakers | Panelists

- Dr. Masinde Bwire | Senior Environmental Officer, Vice-President's Office, Tanzania
- Fernando Camacho | Leader of the Climate Division - National Commission of Natural Protected Areas (CONANP), Mexico
- Anne Hammill | Program Manager, NAP Global Network Secretariat
- Ingrid-Gabriela Hoven | Director General, Department for Global Issues, Ministry for Economic Cooperation and Development (BMZ), Germany
- Mohamed Nbou | Director, Climate Change Competence Centre (4C) Morocco
- Tuan Anh Nguyen | Deputy Director General, Ministry of Planning and Investment (MPI), Vietnam

Moderator

- Rebecca Carter | Deputy Director, Climate Resilience Practice, World Resources Institute

What's it About

The event aims at reflecting on the status quo on adaptation efforts that have been undertaken since the adoption and under the framework of the Paris Agreement with representatives from countries and institutions. It will present early successes of adaptation efforts along the "climate risk continuum" and provide a space for showcasing examples of NDC implementation through the NAP process as well as for innovative finance and insurance solutions in the field of adaptation.

On behalf of